The Daily Courant.

Friday, July 28 1704

From the Leiden Gazette, dated July 17.

Rome, June 28.

THis being the Eve of the Feſtival of St. Peter and St. Paul, the Pope went to the Cathedral of St. Peter, and Sung Veſpers with great Solemnity, accompanied by the Sacred College and divers other Prelates. In the Afternoon the Feudataries of the Church paid their uſual Tribute to the Apoſtolical Treaſury. But the Genet for the Kingdom of Naples was not preſented, becauſe the Pope has not given the Inveſtiture of it to either of the Competitors. However, his Holineſs caus'd a Writing to be drawn up and regiſter'd, ſetting forth his Right to that Preſent; and the Miniſters of Philip V. and Charles III. of Spain enter'd ſeparately their Proteſt upon the Court's Refuſal to accept this Preſent from either of them.

From the Leid. Gaz. July 24. & Amſt. Gaz. July 25.

Rome, July 5. Sunday laſt being the Feſtival of St. Peter and St. Paul, the Pope went in great State to the Church of St. Peter, ſaid Maſs and pronounc'd a Homily; And afterwards went up into the Gallery and gave his Benediction to the People according to Cuſtom. Almoſt all the Cardinals that were in Town, as alſo the Queen Dowager of Poland and ſeveral other Perſons of Quality, appear'd at this Ceremony which laſted 4 Hours. The Bells of all the Churches in this City were rung, the Cannon of the Caſtle of St. Angelo were fir'd, and in the Evening there were Fireworks, Bonfires, and Illuminations. The next day an Expreſs arriv'd from Cardinal Aſtalli Legate of Ferrara, with Advice, that the Imperialiſts ſeeing themſelves ſurrounded on all ſides, ſince the French were ſuffer'd to return into the Ferrareze, had abandon'd Oſtiglia and all their other Poſts in the Mantuan, and were retir'd over the Adige. Collonel Pet is come hither to make Complaint on the part of Count Leiningen, upon the French being permitted to return into the Ferrareze, notwithſtanding the Aſſurances that had been given him in the Pope's Name to the contrary. Whereupon his Holineſs has written two Letters with his own Hand to the Emperor and the Elector Palatin, in which he makes Proteſtation of his Innocence in this Affair.

From the Paris Gazette, dated July 26.

Venice, July 5. This Week the Secretary of the Spaniſh Ambaſſador had Audience of the Senate, and preſented to them a Letter from the King his Maſter, in which his Majeſty notified to the Republick the Conqueſts he had made in Portugal. The Senate return'd Anſwer by a Letter which they ſent to Signior Duodo, their Ambaſſador at the Court of Madrid, to be by him preſented to that Court; in which Letter they expreſs great Joy for his Catholick Majeſty's good Succeſs, and very much Eſteem and Reſpect for his Perſon. The Procurator Soranzo lately arriv'd from Conſtantinople, having finiſh'd his Quarantain the 28th of laſt Month, went the ſame day to his Palace, attended by a great Number of Perſons of Quality. He has ſince made a Viſit to the Doge, and continues to make other Viſits according to Cuſtom. The Envoy from the Grand Signior having likewiſe ended his Quarantain yeſterday, was conducted with his Retinue to the Palace fitted up for him in the Iſland Zuecca. According to the laſt Advices from Conſtantinople, which were of the 14th of May laſt, all was quiet there; nor was there any Appearance of War againſt the Muſcovites, but the Guards that were put upon the Czar's Ambaſſador were taken off. However, the Republick is ſending to the Morea, a great Fleet with Ammunitions, Proviſions, Money and Soldiers; with the Marqueſs du Hamel General of their Land Forces, who with a great Number of Officers is imbark'd in a Ship of War call'd the Amazone.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated July 24.

Venice, July 11. The Envoy from the Porte made his publick Entry the 8th of this Month; beſides his own Retinue, he was accompanied by 40 Noble Venetians, a Secretary and an Interpreter belonging to the Republick: And being introduc'd to our Regents he preſented to them his credential Letters, in which the Grand Signior his Maſter notified to them his Advancement to the Throne of his Anceſtors, and that he was reſolv'd to obſerve religiouſly the Treaties of Truce concluded at Carlowitz with this Republick and its Allies. The Envoy made a Speech to the ſame purpoſe; and was anſwer'd in very obliging Terms; After which he was reconducted to his Palace with the ſame Ceremonies as he came from thence. The ſame day came Advice by an Expreſs from Verona, that the Imperial Troops commanded by the Count of Leiningen had intirely quitted the Territories of the Republick, and were retiring in good Order into the Trentin with all their Artillery and Baggage. The Chevalier de Vendome Grand Prior of France, who march'd up the other ſide of the Adige to obſerve the Motions of the Imperialiſts; has made great Complaints to Signior Molino General of our Forces on the Terra firma, that he ſuffer'd the Imperialiſts to be furniſh'd with all they had occaſion for in their Paſſage, particularly Carriages and Waggons for carrying their Cannon, Baggage, and Sick. To which our General thought fit to Anſwer, that he was ready to do the French the like Favour, if they would alſo quit the Territories of the Republick. But the Grand Prior reply'd, That he could not leave the Adige, till he was ſatisfied the Imperialiſts would not return.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated July 29.

Sendomir, July 8. The 3d inſtant, Ibrahim Aga, who lately arriv'd here in Quality of Envoy from the Porte, had a publick Audience of the King in the Palace of Lubomirski at Baranow 3 Leagues from hence. The King ſent 16 of his Officers and Servants with 600 Horſe, to conduct him from his Lodging to the Palace aforeſaid, and being introduc'd into the Room appointed for the Audience, where the King was ſeated on his Throne, he made three low Bowes to his Majeſty, and deliver'd his credential Letter which was wrap'd up in Cloath of Silver. Then he was plac'd right againſt the Throne, in a rich rich Chair, between the Under Chancellor and the Great Treasurer of the Crown; and said to his Majesty by an Interpreter, 'The Emperor, my most 'gracious Soveraign, has sent me hither to be in-'form'd whether your Majesty is in good Health. The Under Chancellor of the Crown answer'd, 'His 'Majesty is very well, and would know how the 'Emperor does? The Envoy reply'd, 'His Majesty 'the Emperor is in good Health, the better because 'he is in Peace; And he has sent me hither with a 'Letter full of Expressions of Friendship, in hopes 'that after you have read it, you will return a like 'friendly Answer. The Under Chancellor reply'd again to this on the part of the King; and then the Envoy was conducted back to his Lodgings.
